Making Our Medicines Available to Those Who Will Benefit from Them Most

Patients often have trouble accessing the medicines their doctors prescribe. At Alnylam, we believe that is unacceptable. Before our first medicine launched, we made a commitment to ensure our medicines get to those who will benefit from them. Our Patient Access Philosophy serves as our compass for fulfilling that promise – putting patients first, continuing our focus on innovation, and being accountable to patients and their families. We are proud to share how we are living those values.

Ensuring Access and Delivering Value

Alynlyam's Patient Access Philosophy is an important first step for patients to gain access to the medicines they need. We have seen this work well for our ONPATTRO patients, and we will apply this philosophy across our entire portfolio. As we grow our global footprint, we will continue to price our medicines responsibly and consistently with the value delivered and in consideration of the rare diseases they treat. We will not make arbitrary price increases. We view ourselves as a citizen of the global health community and commit ourselves to innovative solutions for patient access. We remain steadfast in our commitment to patients and dedicated to developing investigational therapies to help people with serious and life-threatening diseases.

“We have taken a proactive approach to helping patients gain access to our medications, and we are proud to see that these efforts are making a difference. There is still more to do, and we will continue to work with healthcare providers, families and caregivers, insurance companies and other payers to help patients with rare diseases live healthier lives.”
